

200m of optical fiber cable

AI Overview

200 meters of optical fiber cable is available in various types, including single-mode and multi-mode, pre-terminated or bulk, suitable for indoor and outdoor high-speed data transmission.

Types and Specifications

Single-mode vs Multi-mode: Single-mode fiber (SMF) is designed for long-distance, high-bandwidth applications, typically using a 9µm core. It is ideal for telecommunications, internet backbones, and VSAT connections. Multi-mode fiber (MMF) has a larger core (50-62.5µm) and is suitable for shorter distances, such as within buildings or data centers.

Pre-terminated vs Bulk Cable: Pre-terminated cables come with connectors already installed, allowing quick deployment without specialized tools. They are tested for quality and support high-speed applications like 1G, 10G, or higher. Bulk fiber cable requires field termination, which may need skilled technicians and additional tools, but allows custom lengths and connector types.

Construction and Durability: Many 200m cables feature LSZH (Low Smoke Zero Halogen) jackets for safety in confined spaces. Some are steel-armored for outdoor or rugged environments, UV-stabilized, and can operate in temperatures from -40°C to +60°C. Cables may be suitable for direct burial using PVC conduits or for indoor routing in data centers.

Applications

Networking and Telecommunications: High-speed internet, phone lines, and TV distribution.

Data Centers: Pre-terminated cables simplify installation and reduce downtime.

Industrial and Outdoor Use: Armored cables protect against mechanical stress, UV exposure, and environmental conditions.

Specialty Uses: Decorative lighting, automotive safety features, and VSAT terminals.

Installation Considerations

Ensure proper bending radius to avoid signal loss. Use appropriate connectors (LC, SC, FC/PC) depending on equipment compatibility. Pre-terminated cables reduce installation time and minimize errors, while bulk cables offer flexibility for custom setups.

In summary, 200 meters of optical fiber cable can meet a wide range of networking and industrial needs, wit...
