

Affordable waterproof electrical distribution boxes in Argentina

AI Overview

Waterproof electrical distribution boxes (IP65) in Argentina typically range from USD 50 to USD 300 depending on size, material, and brand, with local distributors like Cyberall Group offering international brands such as Schneider Electric and Eaton. Overview of Pricing Waterproof distribution boxes, commonly rated IP65, are available in various sizes (4–39 ways) and materials such as ABS or polycarbonate (PC). International online listings suggest: Small residential boxes (4–12 ways, ABS/PC): approximately USD 50–120. Medium industrial boxes (12–24 ways, ABS/PC): approximately USD 120–200. Large commercial/industrial boxes (24–36 ways, high-strength ABS/PC or metal): approximately USD 200–300. These prices are indicative and may vary due to shipping, import taxes, and local distributor markups in Argentina. Local Availability In Argentina, distributors like Cyberall Group supply IP65 waterproof distribution boxes from major brands such as Schneider Electric, Eaton, Siemens, and ABB. They offer: Door-to-door shipping to any city in Argentina. Payment options including credit card (via PayPal for orders under 1,000 Euros) or wire transfer. Delivery times for stocked items typically 4–5 days. Local distributors may provide additional services such as technical support, installation guidance, and warranty coverage, which can justify slightly higher prices compared to direct international purchases. Factors Affecting Price Number of ways/circuits: Larger boxes with more ways cost more. Material: ABS and PC are common; metal enclosures are more expensive but offer higher durability. Brand: International brands like Schneider Electric or Eaton are priced higher than generic or local brands. Features: Transparent covers, push-to-open doors, and integrated cable management can increase cost. Import duties and shipping: International purchases...
