

Cable tray tee price

AI Overview

Custom cable tray tees can range from around $1 per unit for standard perforated designs to higher prices depending on material, size, and customization options. Standard Cable Tray Tee Pricing Basic cable tray tees, such as CE-certified perforated designs, are available for approximately $1 per unit when purchased individually, making them suitable for wholesale or resale applications. Prices may vary slightly depending on supplier location, certification, and order quantity. Custom Cable Tray Tee Pricing For custom-designed cable tray tees, prices depend on several factors: Material: Options include galvanized steel, stainless steel, aluminum, or fiberglass-reinforced plastic (FRP), with stainless steel and FRP generally costing more due to durability and corrosion resistance. Dimensions: Custom lengths, widths, and depths can increase cost, especially for large or non-standard sizes. Special Features: Custom colors, powder coating, specialized wire supports, or unique mounting configurations can add to the price. Quantity: Bulk orders often reduce the per-unit cost, while single custom units may be priced higher due to fabrication setup. Manufacturers like JLH Electric and WireRun offer OEM/ODM services for custom cable tray fittings, providing competitive factory pricing while accommodating project-specific requirements. Similarly, suppliers on IndiaMART and Made-in-China platforms provide custom fabrication options, with prices varying based on material and specifications. Summary Standard perforated tee: ~$1 per unit Custom tee: Price varies widely; factors include material, size, coating, and quantity, typically higher than standard units Bulk orders: Can reduce per-unit cost Customization: Available for specific project needs, including color, dimensions, and mounting options For an accurate quote, it is recommended to contact suppliers directly with your specifications, as custom features and materials significantly influence the final price.
