

Concealed cable trays in Slovenia

AI Overview

Concealed cable trays in Slovenia are available in various materials and sizes, designed to protect and hide electrical, data, and control cables while ensuring safety and compliance. Overview Concealed cable trays are used to route and protect power, data, and control cables in industrial, commercial, and infrastructure projects while keeping installations hidden from view. They are ideal for applications where aesthetics, safety, and protection from physical damage or environmental hazards are important. These trays can also accommodate other media such as gas or fluids in specialized installations. Materials and Construction In Slovenia, concealed cable trays are manufactured from a variety of materials to suit different environments: Pre-galvanized steel and powder-coated steel for standard indoor use Hot-dip galvanized steel for high-corrosion environments Stainless steel AISI 316L for highly demanding or hygienic conditions Tinned or hot-tinned sheet metal for custom applications Trays are available in perforated or closed versions, with side heights typically ranging from 22 mm to 60 mm, and widths from 50 mm up to 600 mm. Perforated trays enhance airflow and cooling, while closed trays provide complete concealment and protection. Installation and Accessories Concealed cable trays can be installed using wall mounts, ceiling suspensions, floor supports, or pendant systems, depending on the project requirements. Accessories such as bends, reducers, raisers, and couplers allow smooth routing and changes in direction. Support struts and brackets are generally galvanized, with options for stainless steel in demanding environments. Suppliers in Slovenia Several companies provide concealed cable trays in Slovenia: Schneider Electric Slovenia (Wibe Cable Trays): Offers a complete system for concealed installations with a wide range of materials, sizes, and accessories. Bevec d.o.o.: Manufactures trays in galvanized, hot-dip galvanized, and stainless steel with various bends and couplers for complex floor plans. Elba d.o.o.: Produces custom ca...
