

Fiber optic cable manufacturer wholesale price

AI Overview

Wholesale fiber optic cables can range from approximately $0.30 per unit for basic 12-core ADSS cables to higher prices depending on type, core count, and supplier. Price Ranges and Options Basic 12-core ADSS fiber optic cables are available starting at around $0.30 per unit for bulk orders of 10 units or more, suitable for distributors and retailers seeking cost-effective solutions (Alibaba). Singlemode and multimode fiber cables are offered by suppliers like CableWholesale, with pricing varying based on core size, length, and quality. Singlemode cables are recommended for long-distance applications, while multimode cables are more suitable for shorter distances (CableWholesale). OEM and factory-direct sourcing through platforms like Made-in-China allows for custom specifications and bulk orders, which can reduce costs further and provide negotiation flexibility (Made-in-China). Supplier Platforms Global Sources lists over 670 fiber optic cable products from manufacturers, offering low minimum order quantities (MOQs) and direct factory pricing, including indoor, FTTH drop, and double-shielded communication cables (Global Sources). Alibaba provides a wide range of wholesale fiber optic cables with transparent unit pricing and bulk purchase options (Alibaba). CableWholesale offers a variety of fiber optic cables, connectors, and converters at wholesale prices, with bulk discounts and accessories for network deployment (CableWholesale). Considerations for Wholesale Purchases Cable type: Singlemode vs. multimode affects distance and signal quality. Core count: More cores generally increase price but allow for higher data capacity. Length and shielding: Longer cables or specialized shielding (e.g., double-shielded) can increase cost. Supplier reliability: Factory-direct or OEM distributors often provide better pricing and customization options. For precise pricing, it is reco...
