

Israel telecommunications tower brands

AI Overview

Key Israeli telecommunications tower brands include MER Group, PSK, Telrad Networks, and Ceragon Networks, offering a range of towers, masts, and supporting infrastructure for cellular, internet, and satellite communications. Major Israeli Manufacturers and Providers

MER Group is a leading manufacturer of telecom towers in Israel, providing solutions for cellular communications, internet services, radar, in-building radio, and microwave links. Their towers support advanced technologies such as fiber optic networks and microwave links, catering to both telecom and defense sectors . PSK specializes in the design, fabrication, assembly, reinforcement, and upgrade of towers, masts, and supporting structures. They offer patented technologies like ToweReinforce® for tower reinforcement and refurbishment, serving telecom operators, broadcast organizations, government agencies, and defense industries . Telrad Networks focuses on end-to-end LTE infrastructure, including fixed LTE towers that enhance broadband wireless access, particularly in rural or underserved areas . Ceragon Networks provides wireless backhaul and fronthaul solutions, supporting 4G and 5G networks. While primarily known for wireless transport equipment, their solutions often integrate with tower infrastructure to deliver broadband services . Gilat Satellite Networks also contributes to the sector with satellite-based communication towers and terminals, particularly for defense and emergency response applications .

Market Overview Israel imports telecom towers from countries such as Bulgaria, India, Canada, Italy, and Turkey, complementing local production. The market has shown steady growth, with a CAGR of 1.83% from 2020 to 2024 and accelerated growth of 2.12% from 2023 to 2024, reflecting increasing demand for telecom infrastructure .
