

Mauritius 6-core optical cable manufacturer

AI Overview

Photonics Ltd, Electrum, and Aksh Technologies (Mauritius) Limited are key manufacturers and suppliers of optical fiber cables in Mauritius. Photonics Ltd specializes in fiber optic last mile FTTH solutions and copper cable assemblies. They manufacture a range of passive FTTH products and accessories for the domestic market, Indian Ocean Islands, and the Eastern Seaboard of Africa. Their offerings include factory-terminated aerial drop cables suitable for harsh environments, which can include multi-core configurations such as 6-core cables. Photonics also provides technical consultancy for fiber optic procurement, design, and installation, making them a reliable local manufacturer for telecom and data network projects (Photonics Ltd). Electrum is a trusted manufacturer of fiber optic solutions in Mauritius, producing cables, connectors, patch cords, and closures. Their products are designed for telecom operators, data centers, and enterprise networks. Electrum emphasizes customized fiber solutions, which can include 6-core optical cables, tailored to project-specific requirements. They ensure compliance with international standards and support high-speed data transmission, making them suitable for FTTH, smart city, and industrial network deployments (Electrum). Aksh Technologies (Mauritius) Limited, a subsidiary of Aksh OptiFibre Ltd, manufactures and markets optical fiber cables domestically and globally. Established in 2017, the company provides cutting-edge technology and engineering expertise in digital and telecommunications infrastructure. Their Mauritius facility is capable of producing multi-core optical fiber cables, including 6-core configurations, and offers both domestic supply and export services (Aksh OptiFibre Ltd). Summary For 6-core optical fiber cables in Mauritius, the following m...
