

Mexican Fiber Optic Connector Manufacturer

AI Overview

Condumex and Yangtze Optics Mexico are leading Mexican manufacturers of fiber optic connectors and related products. Condumex is a prominent Mexican company with extensive experience in fiber optic manufacturing, including connectors, cables, and network solutions. It has participated in major projects such as Mexico's largest fiber optic network, covering over 280,000 km, and has supplied more than 265,000 km of fiber optic cable for telecommunications and entertainment systems. Condumex produces cables for metropolitan and long-distance networks, aerial and duct installations, and optical connections, meeting both national and international standards for robustness and reliability. The company also develops advanced applications like Automotive Ethernet and supports IoT and 5G infrastructure. Yangtze Optics Mexico Cable S.A. de C.V., a subsidiary of YOFC, operates a production facility in Jalisco, Mexico. This facility manufactures high-quality fiber optic cables and solutions, including connectors, to serve the growing telecommunications market in Mexico. YOFC is a global leader in fiber preforms, fibers, cables, and integrated solutions, and its Mexican operations aim to provide local customers with reliable products while creating jobs and supporting technological innovation. The company emphasizes professional technology, high-quality service, and long-term market presence. Additional Options Other Mexican distributors and suppliers, such as FibraMarket, offer fiber optic connectors and related products, though they primarily focus on distribution rather than manufacturing. For specialized needs, these companies can provide a wide range of high-quality fiber optic components and installation support. Summary For fiber optic connectors manufactured in Mexico, Condumex an...
